

THE CONSORTIUM ON RACE, GENDER, & ETHNICITY presents

a conference on

QUALITATIVE

Research Methods & Discovery:

INTERSECTIONALITY

across the Disciplines

Friday, March 2, 2012

9am-2:30pm

David C. Driskell Center | 1214 Cole Field House

Breakfast & Lunch will be served.

Conference is free. Registration is required.

www.cрге.umd.edu

Join the Qualitative Research Interest Group (QRIG), in collaboration with the Maryland Population Research Center, as we discover how qualitative research illuminates lived experiences, focusing on intersections of identity including race, gender, sexuality, dis/ability, health, ethnicity, and socioeconomic status. Presentations by and discussions with scholars from across the disciplines include American Studies, Communications, Family Sciences, Higher Education, Curriculum & Instruction, Counseling & Personnel Services, Women's Studies, Theatre, Dance and Performance Studies.

Qualitative Faculty Scholars include:

Melinda Martin-Beltrán

Faedra Chatard Carpenter

Noah D. Drezner

Meina Liu

Matthew J. Miller

Miriam Phillips

Stephen John Quayle

Michelle V. Rowley

Jacqueline Wallen

Moderators

Vanessa Sheppard

Georgetown University Medical Center

Nancy Struna

Chair, American Studies, University of Maryland

CO-SPONSORS

The Maryland Population Research Center

African American Studies Department

Asian American Studies

LGBT Studies

Department of Sociology

Department of Women's Studies